Coronavirus Protocol for Quantum Biofeedback

Harmonizing through Addressing Causal Factors

'Dis-ease' is always a symptom of an organism in stress, out of balance and harmony. Coronavirus is no exception. The magnitude of its current impact on the global population speaks loudly of a system (humankind) greatly out of balance. This protocol is designed to assist in bringing resolution through addressing factors implicated in creating incoherency in our biofields and therefore, leading to physical vulnerability and distress.

These factors include (but are not limited to):

- Collective Consciousness fear levels, 'disconnect' and excessive stress related to the massive global shift we are experiencing as deconstruction of an outdated paradigm on this planet continues at a rather accelerated pace.
- EMF toxicity which has been and will continue to be pushing our bioenergetic and biochemical abilities to transmute and adjust to new frequency ranges as we are going through a global roll-out of 5G (60 GHZ). We are capable of shifting energy patterns and changing our relationship with all 'external' fields through expanding our consciousness in unification with the global collective (it's time to heal old stories, change our minds and open our hearts), raising our vibration and letting go of resistance to change.
- Other toxins. We as a collective consciousness have created the foundations (over thousands of years on this planet) that have led to disconnect from each other, our planet, ourselves as spiritual beings, our 'heart-intelligence'. Toxic products (chemical and otherwise) are natural by-products of a consciousness that has become so disconnected. The body's ability to detox is directly related to mental/emotional detox.
- Weakened immune systems, stressed neuro-endocrine systems, mutated DNA, incoherent bioenergy fields (light bodies) are reflective of the primary causal patterns noted above.
- Virus and other pathogenic organisms have mutated into strains resistant to many previously successful treatments. This is what organisms do... mutate to survive. We are organisms that can do the same to keep up with current stressors. Our ability to do so is dependent on our chosen state of mind; state of being. It requires that we each take responsibility for healing our minds, waking up our heart intelligence and learning to take action from a place of inspiration (response) rather than 're-action' (which comes from our ego or 'conditioned mind', always operating on limited data from past experiences).

This protocol focuses on collapsing wave patterns of fear and disconnection, supporting the light body matrix (chakras, aura, DNA training), boosting immune system and addressing the coronavirus. As we release stress patterns, we allow our bodies to do what they are designed to do best ... adjust, heal, re-organize and reclaim healthy status. All systems can optimize.

The Protocol:

As an integral part of the global collective consciousness, you may use your name as client surrogating for the whole collective. This supports your experience of being part of the unified whole and assists in shifting your consciousness to align with this truth.

Enjoy the integration...may All be blessed by this session!

May we as One remember Love... it is our eternal nature and our calling to awaken to it. Sometimes the most challenging experiences in life draw us deeper within to answer this calling. It is here that we understand what healing really means.

The call here is to shift from fear to Love.
